Web Developer

ABOUT ME

I have had a passion for computer programming since a young age, where I taught myself Javascript and Python. In high school, I furthered my skills through courses in computer programming and web development at JATC, where I learned Java and SQL. I am currently enrolled in JATC's web development program, where I have earned certifications in Javascript, CSS, and HTML5. Outside of programming I enjoy playing strategic board games, and playing pickleball with my family.
